About Me

Name: Jake Thomas Warrilow

DOB: 22nd May 1996

Nationality: British

I am a hardworking, committed, creative Graphic Designer. My passion for design is channelled through my work as well as my own self made websites.

I thrive on new challenges in both my professional and personal careers and look to grow from them, expanding my creative skills and knowledge.

I bring creative energy and flair to the table and am extremely productive by nature. I work hard and have a true love of design. Team work is vital in this industry and I love contributing, sharing ideas and inspiration and leaving an everlasting impression.

I manage my own successful clothing brand Outta This Town in my spare time. I combine this with my own freelance designs where I work with a variety of bands, brands and companies. This was achieved through determination and commitment built up over the years.
